Donor(s)

Paul Brainerd

Background

Established in 1995 in WA.

Limitations

Giving in AK, ID, MT, OR, WA, British Columbia, and the Yukon Territory.

No support for for-profit organizations, or for candidates or lobbying.

No grants to individuals, or for school education campaigns, direct land purchases or easements, endowments, capital campaigns, debt reduction, theoretical research, fellowships, or books and videos that are not components of a broader strategy.

Purpose and Activities

The foundation is a small family foundation which provides innovative grantmaking to Northwest communities and nonprofits to build a lasting conservation ethic at the local, state, and federal level. In addition to funding, it provides expertise to its nonprofit partners and collaborates with other foundations to find new methods of advocacy, policy implementation, and capacity building.

Program Area(s)

The grantmaker has identified the following area(s) of interest:

Conservation Capacity

The foundation defines capacity building as the growth of skills, competencies, and infrastructure needed to achieve a higher level of organizational performance. This program specializes in the areas of communications, leadership development, and planning and innovation. It offers grants that support both the individual organizations, or coalitions, that demonstrate an interest and readiness to increase their effectiveness and the regionally focused nonprofit service providers that serve them. Funding for individual organizations is earmarked for groups already receiving support from the foundation's Conservation Policy or Place-based Conservation programs. Grants in this program range from $20,000 to $75,000.

Conservation Policy

This program invests in state-level policy priorities that build a track record of success and demonstrate the benefits of pro-conservation policies to public officials. Policy grants support the work of organizations most integral to the development of state-level policy. The foundation's strategy is to invest in two or three critical organizations in each state as lead grantees. Resources are focused on those groups that demonstrate the leadership, capacity, and track record to achieve success. Grants in this program range from $20,000 to $50,000.

Grassroots Fund

This fund was established to strengthen the Northwest conservation community at its roots. Grants from this fund are typically made to small organizations confronting critical challenges in their communities. Working directly within the landscapes where they live, these groups have local perspective and knowledge, giving them unique leverage at the local level. Organizations requesting support should demonstrate leadership, offering innovative approaches at the grassroots level; work in geographies or on issues that build on the foundation's strategies and goals; collaborate with other organizations, campaigns or coalitions in the region; and operate with an annual budget (typically no more than $250,000) where a small grant can go a long way. Grants in this program range from $5,000 to $10,000.

Opportunity Fund

Because the best-laid plans can run into the unexpected, the foundation designates a limited amount of funds toward Opportunity Fund grants. These grants are awarded to Northwest-focused organizations confronted with a timely opportunity to impact critical ecosystems or significant conservation policy debates or address critical organizational issues.. The foundation is specifically interested in meeting needs that pertain to outreach, but grants from this fund can also be used for emergent litigation, applied research, leadership, support, and other unexpected needs. Priority is given to requests that fit into a broader strategy or campaign being pursued by conservation advocates in the state or region. Grants in this program range from $250 to $3,000.

Place-based Conservation

The Place-based Conservation funding area recognizes the powerful connection between people and the critical landscapes that nourish the Northwest's ecosystems and communities. Priorities for funding in this program are grounded in the science of conservation biology, as well as the social and political sciences, with an emphasis on pivotal communities where the foundation's investments will have an impact beyond the immediate landscape. All of the foundation's investments in this program serve the larger goal of engaging citizens and communicating their interests to decision-makers. Grants are made to organizations conducting work in one more of these focus areas: the High Divide (in MT and ID), the North Cascades of Washington State, the Crown of the Continent (in British Columbia and MT), and Central Oregon. Although the foundation's place based conservation strategy is about investing deeply in three to four priority landscapes that engage diverse and strategic constituencies and build community support for protecting natural resources, the foundation also stays apprised of new areas and opportunities that might become ripe for near-term investments. Grants in this program range from $20,000 to $50,000.

Background

Established in 1997 in WA.

Limitations

Giving limited to OR and WA for environmental requests, and the Puget Sound area for conservation programs for youth and teen pregnancy prevention programs.

No support for private schools, universities, gardening programs, the creation or renovation of community parks, environmental education programs, or for programs related to energy conservation, alternative energy, nuclear waste, toxics, or global warming.

No grants to individuals for research or scholarships, or for capital campaigns for building construction or renovations, computer, software, or office equipment purchases, or book, video, film, or home-page productions, unless the production is an essential component of the funded project.

Purpose and Activities

Giving primarily to organizations whose environmental programs address issues in WA and OR. Priority areas include protecting threatened rivers and forests, nurturing native fish populations, and conserving land and open space for ecological and recreational purposes. Preference will be given to requests from local groups working to improve their immediate environment and from statewide groups addressing general conservation and protection issues, rather than national organizations with projects in the Pacific Northwest. The foundation also supports teen pregnancy prevention projects which may include school-based health and education programs, mentoring projects, and community clinic programs providing information and services on birth control, choice, and sex education.

Fred G. Meyer‡

Background

Trust established by will in 1978; obtained IRS status in 1982 in OR.

Born in 1886 into a family of Brooklyn grocers, Mr. Meyer traveled west in 1905, working his way through the wheat fields of the Dakotas and Montana, and the gold fields of Alaska. After building a door-to-door coffee business in Oregon, he established a coffee retail outlet in a downtown street market that he subsequently managed. Next, he invested everything he had in an "all package" grocery store. At the time of Mr. Meyer's death five decades later, the Fred Meyer chain of stores employed more than 13,000 people on annual sales exceeding $1 billion.

The trust is a signatory to Philanthropy's Promise, and consequently, will be committing a significant percentage of their grantmaking dollars to meeting the needs of underserved communities, including the financial support of advocacy and civic engagement.

Limitations

Giving limited to programs operating in the state of OR and Clark County, WA.

No support for sectarian or religious organizations for religious purposes, for animal welfare organizations, animal-assisted therapy programs, or projects that primarily benefit students of a single K-12 school (unless the school is an independent alternative school primarily serving low-income and/or special needs populations)

No grants to individuals or for endowment funds, annual campaigns, general fund drives, special events, sponsorships, direct replacement funding for activities previously supported by federal, state, or local public sources, deficit financing, acquisition of land for conservation purposes (except through Program Related Investments), or hospital capital construction projects (except through Program Related Investments)

Purpose and Activities

The trust works with and invest in organizations, communities, ideas and efforts that contribute to a flourishing and equitable Oregon.

Program Area(s)

The grantmaker has identified the following area(s) of interest:

Grassroots Grants

Grassroots Grants range from $1,000 to $40,000. This program is limited to tax-exempt organizations operating in Oregon and Clark County, WA. The Grassroots Grants program allows the trust to assist a large number of worthy organizations with a wide variety of small projects that are limited in scope, but nevertheless significant for the applicant organization. The maximum organization budget is $2,000,000. It is unlikely that many of these grants will go to large organizations. Guidelines available on the trust's web site. Online application.

Matching Gifts

The trust matches the monetary gifts and donated time of its employees to charitable organizations.

Program-Related Investments

MMT seeks opportunities to make program-related investments (PRI's) to strengthen and expand the impact of the trust's work in Oregon and Clark County, WA. PRIs take the form of loans, loan guarantees, and equity investments that utilize capital to support a charitable project or activity. They help extend the reach of the trust's grantmaking by aiding grantees in attracting other conventional sources of capital. Online application.

Responsive Grants

Responsive Grants are awarded for a wide array of activities in the areas of human services, health, affordable housing, community development, conservation and environment, public affairs, arts and culture and education. They generally range from $41,000 to $300,000, with grant periods from one to three (and occasionally three) years. Responsive grants help support many kinds of projects, including core operating support, strengthening organizations, building and renovating facilities, and program support. Such grants are limited to organizations operating in Oregon and Clark County, WA. Guidelines and application process available on the Trust's web site. All applications online.
